

Hi, my name is Alice Shields and I am working with Natalia Nino on a project relating to child safety on the internet. We believe and have learned through our research that children's brain gets damaged and harmed though watching and bein on inappropriate websites. We researched and have found the best course of action on this is to block it off completely so to get the best results we are creating an app to block off and prevent access to dark and inappropriate websites

There were some technological difficulties in creating and building the code for our app and we haven't been able to develop any code or programs and are terribly sorry for that. But through the research, we have found that our app would work and allow us to do the best we can for our children and future generations. Because of all the technical difficulties, I am unable to provide any graphs or data.

I am truly sorry I am unable to provide any more information.
